Our Services

Our experts provide written and oral testimony and privileged economic consulting in litigation and arbitration matters on antitrust and commercial disputes before Federal, state and other courts and before regulatory and administrative authorities.

Our Experience

We have unparalleled depth in providing expert evidence on the quantification of economic losses in commercial and regulatory disputes. Our experts regularly provide written and oral evidence before national courts, transnational arbitral institutions, competition inquiries, government panels and regulatory tribunals all around the world.

Our experience and expertise means that we understand our clients' problems and the interaction between economic evidence and the legal process. No two matters are truly alike, and our evidence is tailored in every case to the relevant facts, the economic environment of the business and the intended audience. Our intention in every engagement is to deliver compelling evidence not only about the issues we are asked to address, but why our evidence fits the facts and context at hand.
